INTRODUCTION

Welcome to Plural Publishing, Inc.! You have received this handbook to help guide you through the manuscript preparation and submission process for the contribution you have agreed to write. The following pages will provide you with information on the formatting of your manuscript, submitting tables and figures, requesting permissions for previously published material you wish to use, and properly including citations and references. Please follow these guidelines carefully.

Plural is dedicated to producing your work in a timely fashion. Our editorial and production staff work around the clock to ensure each of our publications is of the highest quality, while at the same time is produced as quickly as possible. Following the guidelines in this handbook and striving to submit a complete, correctly formatted manuscript with all figures, tables, permissions, and references will help ensure that the production process runs smoothly for the work you are contributing to. We look forward to working with you on your contribution this work.

Sincerely,

Plural Publishing, Inc.

CONTACT INFORMATION

The main author(s) or editor(s) of the work you are contributing to will serve as the main contact for Plural's editorial, production, and marketing teams. The main author/editor is responsible for the collection of all material from the different contributors, for ensuring style guidelines and consistency across the book, and for submitting the manuscript in its entirety to Plural's editorial department by the submission date. Please contact the main author/editor of the work you are contributing to with any questions or requests regarding your chapter. You should also send your final chapter submission to the main author/editor of the work.

If you need to contact Plural's editorial department directly, please include your name, the title of the work you are contributing to, and your chapter name and number in all written communication, and address to:

CONTRIBUTOR RESPONSIBILITIES

- Contributor Agreement: Plural requires all contributing authors to sign an agreement guaranteeing their commitment to the work to which they will contribute. The main author or editor of your book will send you this agreement to print, sign, and return to the editor. The agreement for each contributing author gives Plural permission to publish the contribution, specifies the chapter or chapters the author will write, and the deadline for submitting this chapter to the editor.
Plural Publishing cannot publish the book unless the contributor agreement and author information form is received, signed and completed from each contributing author.
- Author Information: Plural requires all contributing authors to provide their preferred contact information as well as a list of current degrees and affiliations. This form also insures that your name is printed as you would like it to appear in the book. Please complete the author information form found at the end of this document, and return it to your editor promptly.

MANUSCRIPT BASICS: HOW TO FORMAT YOUR MANUSCRIPT

- Consistency: Multi-contributed works must strive to maintain consistency across chapters. It is important that the author of one chapter not write in an entirely different manner than the author of the next chapter. You are provided with the following style guidelines to help maintain this consistency. The main author or editor of the work may also send you additional guidelines. We ask that you follow all guidelines to aid in the integration of your contribution to the rest of the work.
- Digital Files: Please use a common word-processing program such as Microsoft Word or Word Perfect. If you plan to use another method of preparing your manuscript, please ask your project editor first to make sure it is usable.
- Pages: Manuscript pages should be 8.5 x 11 with one-inch margins.
- Font: All manuscript pages should be Times New Roman, 12 point font, double spaced.
 - Please leave only one space between words and following periods.
- Phonetic Symbols: If you are using phonetic symbols in your manuscript, you should only use International Phonetic Association programs to create phonetic symbols.
- Page Numbering: Number manuscript and reference pages consecutively in the upper right-hand corner. Start with the first page of the chapter. If you are using Microsoft Word or a similar word processing program, use the View Header and Footer option in the View menu bar to insert the page number on the top of each page.
- Headings: Please do not bold or italicize your headings. Examples of all heading tags that must be used are listed below. These tags enable the copy-editor to format your headings properly, and later, the typesetter to apply a specific design to the book. Do not indent paragraphs immediately following headings. See the example of a formatted manuscript on page 6.

- CN/Chapter number
- /CT/Chapter title
- /CA/Chapter Author
- /H1/Heading 1
 - Example: /H1/Dogs
- /H2/Heading 2
 - Example: /H2/Big Dogs
- /H3/Heading 3
 - Example: /H3/Labradors

- Chapters Files: Save each chapter as a separate digital file. Clearly label each file with the book name, chapter number, chapter name, and your name. Submit each chapter to your editor when complete.
- Organization: Each chapter file should be arranged as follows: (1) Text, (2) References, (3) Figure Legends. Figures and tables will be saved separately. See detailed instructions on page 7.
- Figures and Tables: Ensure that all figures (photos, illustrations, charts, etc.) and tables are mentioned sequentially in the text. Number the figures in your contribution consecutively, based on the first time each is mentioned in the text (each figure must be mentioned at least once).
 - Use the chapter number as a prefix when numbering (for example, Figure 1–1, Figure 1–2, etc.).
 - Each figure should be clearly labeled with its number, and saved as a separate digital file. Do not insert figures into the manuscript (word) file! Your manuscript should contain one line stating, [Insert Figure X–X here], where each figure should appear (see detailed instructions on page 6).
- Do not submit art in Microsoft Exel, Word, PowerPoint, or Publisher
- Permissions: Please refer to the section on permissions for any figures used that have been published previously. You will need to supply copies of all permissions to your editor, if applicable.

/H1/ Introduction

America is a vast country with many regions that all have unique people and culture. It is important to learn about each region to understand America as a whole.

We will focus on the five major regions of the continental United States in this chapter. You can see a rough outline of each of those regions in Figure 1–1.

/H1/The Southwest

There are roughly six states included in the Southwest region of the United States. These include California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, and New Mexico.

/H2/California

California is the biggest state in the Southwest region.

/H1/ The South

The area known as The South in the United States includes all states in the south east region.

/H2/Texas

Texas is the biggest state in the South. You can see a size comparison between California and Texas in Figure 1–2.

FIGURES, ARTWORK, AND TABLES

▪ Submitting Figures:

- Figures (such as line art or photographs) must be submitted at the time the manuscript is submitted.
 - Line art, illustrations and charts, must be submitted as .jpgs, .tiff, or .pdfs. If you have line art in any other form, please query the editor as to whether it can be used.
 - Photographs must be submitted as either .jpegs or .tiffs and must be no less than 300 dpi (and preferably 600 dpi) at the final size for best reproduction.
- Do not submit: figures in Microsoft Word, figures taken from websites (these are often less than 100 dpi), or PowerPoint files. None of these formats will be accepted.
- Each figure should be submitted as a separate digital file that is clearly labeled with its figure number (ex: Figure 1-1.jpg, Figure 1-2.pdf, Figure 1-3.tiff).
- If the book will be black and white, you must convert any color artwork to black and white prior to submission of materials. This will help you ensure that no critical details are lost or hidden.

▪ Grouping Figures:

- If illustrations are to be grouped together or are related, consider grouping them together as a multiple-part figure. Each piece is then designated by an alphabet letter (e.g., Figure 12–1A, Figure 12–1B, etc.). Be sure to label the individual pieces of artwork with letter designations.

▪ Figure Legends:

- Each figure must have a legend that contains a brief explanation of its contents. (This does not include lists or tables). Legend numbers should match the figure's given number.
- All legends for a chapter should follow the References section of the chapter using the correct format:
 - Example: Figure 1–1. A. This is the population of Texas as compared to B. the population of California.
- Legends should not appear on or under the figures themselves.

- Figures borrowed or adapted from another publication must include a credit line at the end of each figure. The credit line should be a complete bibliographical listing (as a reference), or the credit line supplied by the copyright holder.

- Tables:

- Tables must be prepared using the table formatting function in Microsoft Word. Do not prepare tables using tabs or spacebars.
- Like figures, tables are numbered consecutively as they are mentioned for the first time in a chapter. Each should have a short legend. Table legends, along with the number, should be typed at the top of each table
 - Example: Table 12–2. Drugs and Their Effects on Voice.
- Tables should be double-spaced.
- Tables should be drawn at sizes larger than can be used in the book. One consistent line weight is preferred, but no more than two line weights should be used. To distinguish areas, use black and white where possible, and patterns such as diagonal stripes if additional areas need defining.
- Preview your tables by printing them at 50% and check legibility.
- Save each table as a separate word file. Do not insert tables in the manuscript file. Add a credit line as the first footnote beneath tables which are borrowed or adapted with permission from another publication. The credit line should be a complete bibliographical listing (as a reference), or the credit line supplied by the copyright holder.

- Do not submit art in Microsoft Excel, Word, PowerPoint or Publisher

REFERENCES AND CITATIONS

- All reference listings should be double-spaced and directly follow the text pages of each chapter.
- For this work Plural will adhere to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th edition), in which the reference is alphabetized by author's last name and citations are made in the text using the author's last name and date.
- Citations in the text must correspond to the reference list and vice versa.
- In the reference list, the first line of each entry should be flush left with subsequent lines indented 5 spaces (hanging indent).
- References may be listed at the end of the work for single-author works, but must be listed at the end of each chapter for multi-contributed works.

Below you will find examples of a few common references and citations. For a complete list of referencing entries, please refer to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th edition).

CITATION OF REFERENCES IN THE TEXT—APA STYLE

- APA uses the author-date method of citation, that is, in a single-author study, the author's last name and the year of publication are inserted into the text.
 - Examples: Smith (1997) reported that...
 - In a recent study (Smith, 1997), it was discovered that...

Multiple Authors

- When a work has two authors, both authors are always cited when the reference occurs in the text.
 - Example: A subsequent study (Smith & Watson, 1997) provided more data

When a work has three, four, or five authors, all of the authors are cited the first time the work is cited in the text; thereafter, citations include only the first author's last name followed by et al. and the date.

- Example: Georg, Lindblat, and Smith (1998) as a first citation
Georg et al. (1998) as a subsequent citation

- When a work has six or more authors, the first and all subsequent citations use the first author's last name and et al.

Groups as Authors

- Government agencies, study groups, associations, and corporations should be spelled out the first time they appear in a citation.
 - Example: Cincinnati University (1992)
- Subsequent citations of groups with recognizable acronyms can use the acronym.
 - Example: (Federal Drug Administration [FDA], 1998), as a first citation
(FDA, 1998), as a second citation

Cases of Possible Confusion

- In the case of two or more primary authors with the same last name, include the author's initials, even if the year of publication is different.

Page Numbers

- Page numbers should be included when citing quotations or specific parts of a source.
 - Example: (Lange & Bess, 1999, p. 433)

Personal Communications

Personal communications include letters, telephone conversations, e-mail, discussion groups, and so on. Because these materials cannot be accessed by others, they are cited only in text (not in the reference list).

- Correct citation includes the initials and last name of the correspondent and the month, day, and year of the communication
 - Example: (M. L. Link, personal communication, March 21, 1974)

LIST OF REFERENCES AT THE END OF THE MANUSCRIPT—APA STYLE

In edited works with multiple contributors, the list of references must appear at the end of each chapter. In single-authored works, the list of references may appear at the end of the chapter or at the end of the book. Regardless, care should be taken that references are correct and complete, and correspond to the citations within the text. Please refer to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th edition) for additional sources and examples of references.

Reference Entries

- Each reference should contain the author’s last name, first initials, year of publication, title, publisher, and publisher’s location. Non-English journal articles in reference lists should also have the English translation in brackets following the article title. Below are some basic common formats of reference entries:

- Article: Jones, D. A. (2005). Title of article. Title of Periodical. xx, xxx- xxx.
- Book: Smith, S. F. (2004). Title of Book. Location: Publisher.
- Chapter: Franklin, A. R. (2000). Title of chapter. In D. Henry (Ed.), Title of Book (pp. xx-xxx). Location: Publisher.
- Online Work: Williams, T. R. (2002). Title of article. Title of Periodical, xx, xx- xxx. Retrieved month, day, year, from <http://www.URLoftheSource.com>.
- Multiple Authors: Jones, D. A., & Smith, S. F. (2005). Title of article. Title of Periodical. xx, xxx-xxx.

Order of Entries

- Reference should be alphabetized based on author’s last name.
- Works by the same author should be listed chronologically in ascending order. If multiple works by the same author published in the same year are listed, they should be ordered alphabetically by title (excluding “A” or “The”). If references with same authors published in the same year are identified as articles in a series, order the references in series order, not alphabetical order. Lowercase letters—a, b, c, and so on—are placed immediately after the year, within the parentheses.

- Single-author works should appear before multiple author works by the same author.
- Different authors with the same last name should be listed alphabetically by first initial.

Common Abbreviations

- Acceptable abbreviations in citations and references include chap. for chapter, ed. for edition, Ed. or Eds. for Editor or Editors, p. or pp. for page or pages, Vol. for volume, No. for number. For additional abbreviations please refer to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th edition).

CITATION OF REPUBLISHED MATERIALS

- To prepare citations, follow the format in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th edition).
 - Journal example: From “Title of article,” by A. B. First and C. D. Second, 2004, Journal Title, 111, p. 222. Copyright 2004 by Copyright Holder’s Name. Reproduced [or Adapted] with permission.
 - Book example: From Title of Book (p. xxx), by A.B. First and C.D. Second, 2004, Place of Publication: Publisher. Copyright 2004 by Copyright Holder’s Name. Reprinted [or adapted] with permission.
- Check the permission form (page 15) to determine whether the copyright holder requires that a specific statement be included. Many publishing companies require that a specific tag line accompanies the citation.

PERMISSIONS

As a Contributing Author it is your responsibility to request and secure written permissions from the copyright holder for any material you wish to use in the manuscript that has been published previously. To help you organize your figures and tables as well as any permissions requests, your Editor will send you an Illustrations and Permissions Control Sheet. You will log each individual figure and table on this log and whether or not you need permission. If you have any questions regarding its use, please feel free to contact your Editor or the Project Editor at Plural.

- Permissions must be secured in writing for use of:
 - Figures
 - Tables
 - Single quotes of 50 or more words from a newspaper, magazine, or journal
 - Quotes (one long or several short) throughout the manuscript from any single full-length book that exceeds 300 words that have been published previously. A credit line must cite the original source of the material, including the original page numbers.

- Permission is also necessary when adapting, modifying, or redrawing copyrighted material. A credit line stating, “Adapted from,” or “Modified from,” must accompany the material.
- Permissions must be requested for each subsequent edition of a text, even if permission was obtained for copyrighted material to be published in a previous edition.
- Even if you are the author of the work from which the material is borrowed, you must request permission from the copyright holder, unless you hold the copyright yourself.
- Photographs of individuals showing recognizable faces require a release signed by the person in the picture before they can be published. Otherwise, identifying features such as the eyes will be blacked out to guard the individual’s privacy.
- Website materials are often copyrighted. If you use material from a website, be sure to check and obtain permissions for all copyrighted materials.

WHEN IS PERMISSION NOT REQUIRED?

- All United States federal government materials are in the public domain.

- Materials published in the United States copyrighted before 1923 are in the public domain, unless the copyright has been renewed.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU NEED TO REQUEST PERMISSION

- In most cases, the copyright holder will be the publisher of the original work the material appears in.
- Your Request:
 - Your permissions search should start at the Copyright Clearance Center (<http://www.copyright.com>). There, you will be able to obtain most of your permissions. Should you need to contact the rights holder or publishers directly, the information may appear in the book itself, on the publisher's website, or in references such as Literary Marketplace (<http://www.literarymarketplace.com>).
 - You will be able to request permission directly from many publishers' websites by completing and submitting an online form. The information requested is usually as follows:
 - Your full name and contact information
 - The title and author(s) of the original work
 - The figure or table number and page numbers in the original work
 - A brief description of the context of where the copyrighted material will appear
 - If possible, a photocopy of the requested material. A sample permission request form appears on page 18.
- If You Need Assistance: Plural's editorial staff will gladly e-mail you a digital copy of our standard permission request form to aid you in this process. You may also photocopy the form on page 15. If you cannot successfully obtain permission to reprint, please contact Plural's Project Editor for additional guidance and assistance.
- Permission Granted: Once you have been granted permission to use a figure, table, or text, you will need to make a copy of the granted permission to send with your submission to your editor. You should retain the original copy of this document for your files.

Please note that Plural Publishing cannot publish your work until all necessary permissions have been obtained, and we have received correspondence or documentation verifying the approval.
